

Hometown Team

Principals Tom Fowler and Garry Clark have known each other since childhood. In fact, prior to that, Tom and Garry's fathers were roommates, as were their mothers, at Parkville College just outside of Kansas City.

Tom and Garry grew up friends in different states, and then, in their parents' tradition, became roommates in Fort Collins while attending Colorado State University.

They both pursued separate, yet similar careers in real estate development, brokerage and financing. Combined they have worked on more than 20 communities along the Front Range. Then, they discovered a beautiful piece of property on Fort Collins' prestigious west side. With its mountain views and neighboring open space, the land became the catalyst for their partnership in Trails Edge LLC.

Their vision of energy efficient, ranch-style homes that can be customized to the buyer's every desire is now a reality, as is their sincere excitement and enthusiasm for a truly unique Fort Collins community.
